New York Knicks star Carmelo Anthony might be battling a knee injury, but he will soon be recovering in style.

Anthony and his wife, the lovely LaLa, have just bought a full-floor, $11 million unit at 508 W. 24th St., sources tell Gimme Shelter.

The unit is in architect/developer Cary Tamarkin's new 10-story, 15-unit condo complex in West Chelsea.

With views over the High Line, the unit is flooded in light.

It comes with oversized windows, a "walnut and Calacatta Gold marble" chef's kitchen and woodburning fireplaces.

Building amenities include a gym, private storage, a bike room and a shared courtyard with a gas grill.
