

REAL ESTATE WEEKLY

Wednesday, September 20, 2017

CORE Launches 550 W. 29th Street

Tamarkin Co. announced the launch of sales for 550 West 29th Street, a 12-story development in West Chelsea.

Core is exclusively handling the sales and marketing for the project, which features 19 three and four-bedroom homes: four simplexes, 12 duplexes and three penthouses.

Each duplex has 20ft. ceilings, with a multi-paned wall of glass, custom-designed and interiors of European white oak and ebonized ash, Pietra Cardosa marble and Lava Grey limestone, blackened steel and oil-rubbed bronze. The majority of the residences provide views of the High Line and Hudson, and more than half come with private terraces of up to 750 s/f in area. Prices range from $4.6 million to $13.5.

“550 West 29th Street exudes a quiet confidence, which characterizes the soul of our buildings,” said Cary Tamarkin, founder and president of Tamarkin Co.

“Marking our seventh development in the area, this building, much like our other developments, does not scream for attention. Rather we prefer to use the time-honored tools of architecture to design: light and shadow, proportion and space, function and spirit. We strive to express strength in simplicity.”

550 West 29th Street has a 24-hour attended lobby, fitness room and sauna, laundry room, private storage room for each residence, and a bicycle room.

